Let's Start!

When you go to an interview, take your résumé and references!

Learning Outcome

Accurately explain information about interests, hobbies, and preferences in communicative situations.

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about jobs and work.
- I can talk on the phone in a formal situation.
- I can make and respond to requests.

Ask your partner:

- How can you prepare for a job interview?
- What things do you need to take with you?

Let's Explore!

Please bring your résumé to the interview.

* A "résumé" is a brief account of your education, qualifications and employment history.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Mr. Warren: Can you come to the interview tomorrow, Peter?

Peter: Yes!

Mr. Warren: Do you have any questions?

Peter: You need someone to help everyone out, right? Is it possible to get a promotion?

Mr. Warren: Yes.

Peter: Great.

Mr. Warren: After a successful interview, we like to send new employees to HR immediately. Could you bring your résumé with your employment history?

Peter: Of course, I can do that.

Mr. Warren: Please bring your social security card for us to copy. Can you also bring reference letters from past employers?

Peter: Yes, I certainly can!

Mr. Warren: Would you prefer a morning interview?

Peter: Any time is fine, Mr. Warren.

Let's Practice!

It's all about work! What do they say?

Instructions: Find and fix the mistake. Each sentence has 1 mistake.

1. Do you have any quests, Peter?
2. Is it possible to get a demotion?
3. Could you bring your resume with your employ history?
4. Please bring your social secure card for us to copy.
5. Any time is final, Mr. Warren.

Let's Practice!

Peter and Mr. Warren talk on the phone. What do they say?

Instructions: Draw a line from the first part of the statement on the left to the second part on the right.

Interview Statements and Questions

These are statements and questions you may hear in a formal phone conversation about an interview. In these conversations, you use the Simple Present tense. When you speak to someone formally on the phone, you usually use the person's name. You can use modal verbs for requests.

Statements	Questions
We like new employees to go to HR.	Could you come for an interview?
Please bring in your résumé and employment history.	Would you come in for an interview?
You need to bring your social security card.	Would you prefer a morning or afternoon interview?
We want you to start next week.	Do you have any questions?

Examples:

• Mr. Thomas: Could you come for an interview?

Jason: Yes, I can, Mr. Thomas.

• Mr. Thomas: Would you prefer a morning or afternoon interview, Jason?

Jason: I would like an afternoon interview.
